Date: February 27, 2017

Time: 1:30 P.M.

Credit Valley Conservation advises that up to 25mm of rain is forecasted starting Tuesday morning and ending Wednesday evening then transitioning to snow with approximately 5cm of snow expected to fall by early Thursday morning.

While major flooding is not anticipated, flooding of low lying areas could result from this weather event. The downstream portions of the Credit River are still recovering from the melting snow pack and the 20mm of rain which fell during the past week. The anticipated rainfall will raise water levels throughout the watershed. Local streams and rivers will become dangerous, especially in the vicinity of culverts, bridges and dams. Children should be warned to stay away from all watercourses.

CVC will continue to closely monitor weather and water levels in the watershed. This Flood Outlook Statement will be in effect through Friday, March 3rd, 2017 or until further notice.

For more information or to report a flood, please contact CVC during office hours at 905- 670-1615. For afterhours, call 1-800-215-8505.
